Reflec	tion Questions:
1.	How does Genesis 3:15 reveal God's redemptive plan for womanhood, and how does that shape my understanding of my role today?
2.	What does it mean that redemption would come through the seed of the woman, and how does that encourage me as a woman in Christ?
3.	How does Christ's victory as the Last Adam transform the consequences of the Fall for women?
	In what ways do I see God's sovereign use of women in redemption history (e.g., Sarah, Rahab, Ruth, Mary), and how does this impact how I view my purpose in God's plan?
5.	1 Timothy 2:15 speaks of women being preserved through childbearing—how does this point back to Genesis 3:15, and how can I apply its meaning to my life in faith, love, holiness, and self-control?
